BARKER CENTRA

THE BARKER LATRATUS

PREFACE

"To all our readers, we the Senior Class, beg leave to introduce 'The Barker Latratus'. In this we have tried to include useful information and a record of our doings for future reference. We beg your clemency for all errors and your cordial support in this first book of Barker High School.

We earnestly hope that the future classes will follow our example. It rests with you to show how an annual should succeed. We know, therefore, it cannot fail."

—from the 1912 "Latratus"

Foreword

We of the 1962 Latrator Staff sincerely hope that we have fulfilled the hopes stated fifty years ago in the first LATRATOR, "The Barker Latratus", and have presented a successful and worthwhile yearbook.

Each of us on the Latrator Staff has worked very hard to produce this memento of our years at Barker Central. We have tried to introduce some new ideas and features in this special anniversary issue in an effort to make this a never-to-be forgotten Latrator.

We earnestly appreciate the help given us by the members of the class of 1962 and hope that we, in return, have created an enjoyable and memorable story in pictures which they will cherish in the future.

So—reader—turn the page and enjoy the treats in store for you.

Alma Mater

Just outside our little village
With its buildings tall;
Stands our noble Alma Mater,
Known and loved by all.

Chorus:

Raise your voices, Seniors, Juniors,
Each and every one;
Help to praise old Barker Central
For the victories won.
Our strong ties can ne'er be broken
Formed in B.C.S.
So we'll love and honor Barker
Far above the rest.

Chorus:

Raise your voices, Seniors, Juniors,
Help us to express
All our love for Barker Central,
Dear old B.C.S.
Though we'll leave old Barker Central
With its memories dear;
All our joys and all our sorrows
Will still linger near.

Chorus:

Raise your voices, Seniors, Juniors,
Loud her praises tell;
Hail to thee our Alma Mater,
B.C.S. All Hail

Nelson D. Rockefeller

Governor of The State of New York

State of New York
Executive Chamber
Albany, New York

To the Class of 1962:

It is a pleasure to send congratulations to the faculty and student body of Barker Central School on the occasion of its 50th Anniversary. This is an event which merits commemoration. The staff of the Latrator is to be commended on its special issue marking the event.

It is gratifying to know that you all appreciate the advantages you enjoy as students in such an excellent school. Barker has a record of which both the faculty and the students may well be proud.

My particular congratulations to the graduating class of 1962, and best wishes for the success of all its members in their chosen fields, in the years to come.

Sincerely,

Nelson A. Rockefeller

John F. Kennedy
President of The United States

In honor of the Fiftieth Anniversary of Barker Central School, President Kennedy has given the staff of the LATRATOR permission to publish his picture and to quote from his Inaugural Address the following good advice, suitable for, at least, the next fifty years.

"My fellow Americans: ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country . . . With a good conscience our only sure reward, with history the final judge of our deeds, let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking His blessing and His help, but knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own."

Dedication

Dear Mr. Wittlinger,

We, the Class of 1962, have not the words to let you know our gratitude for having you as our adviser. For four years, you have given unselfishly of your time and energy to keep our class unified, working toward a common goal. You were always there to give encouraging words of advice in time of need. You kept our spirits up through the hard times and never gave up hope that someday we would amount to something. For this and the many other things you've done for us, we thank you, Mr. Wittlinger, and we dedicate this book to you to show our love and appreciation.

Sincerely yours,
The Class of 1962

We Appreciate . . .

Dear Mrs. Gambel,

As verdant Freshmen, we were thankful for your sage advice. Then after your leave of absence for a year and a half, we were happy to learn that you were once again returning to us in the capacity of adviser. We thank you for sticking with us through "thick and thin" and for being willing to sacrifice time and effort for us. Appreciation is only a part of what we hold for you.

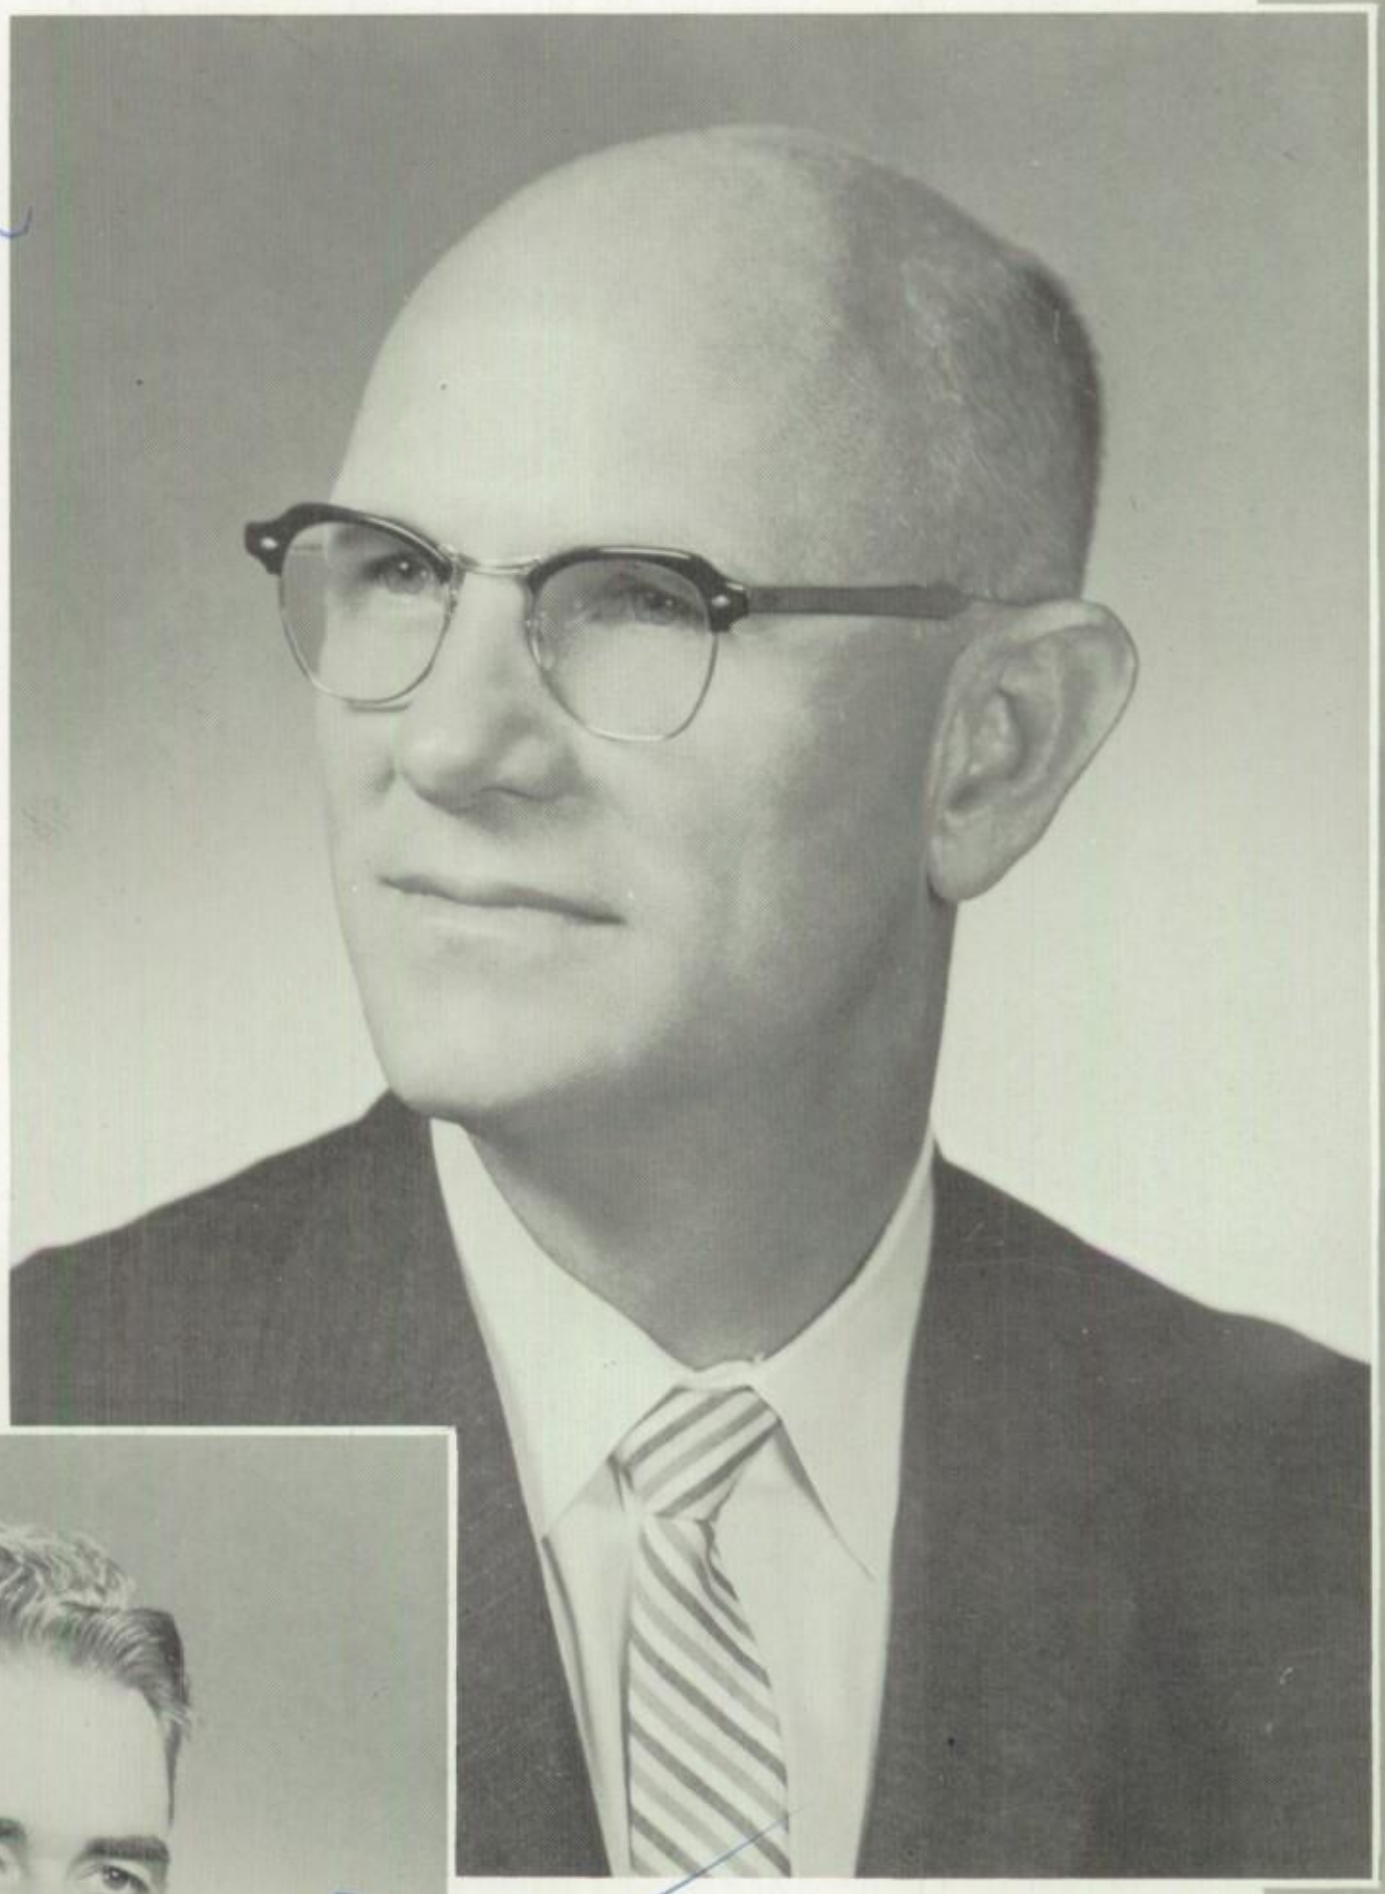
Sincerely,
The Class of 1962

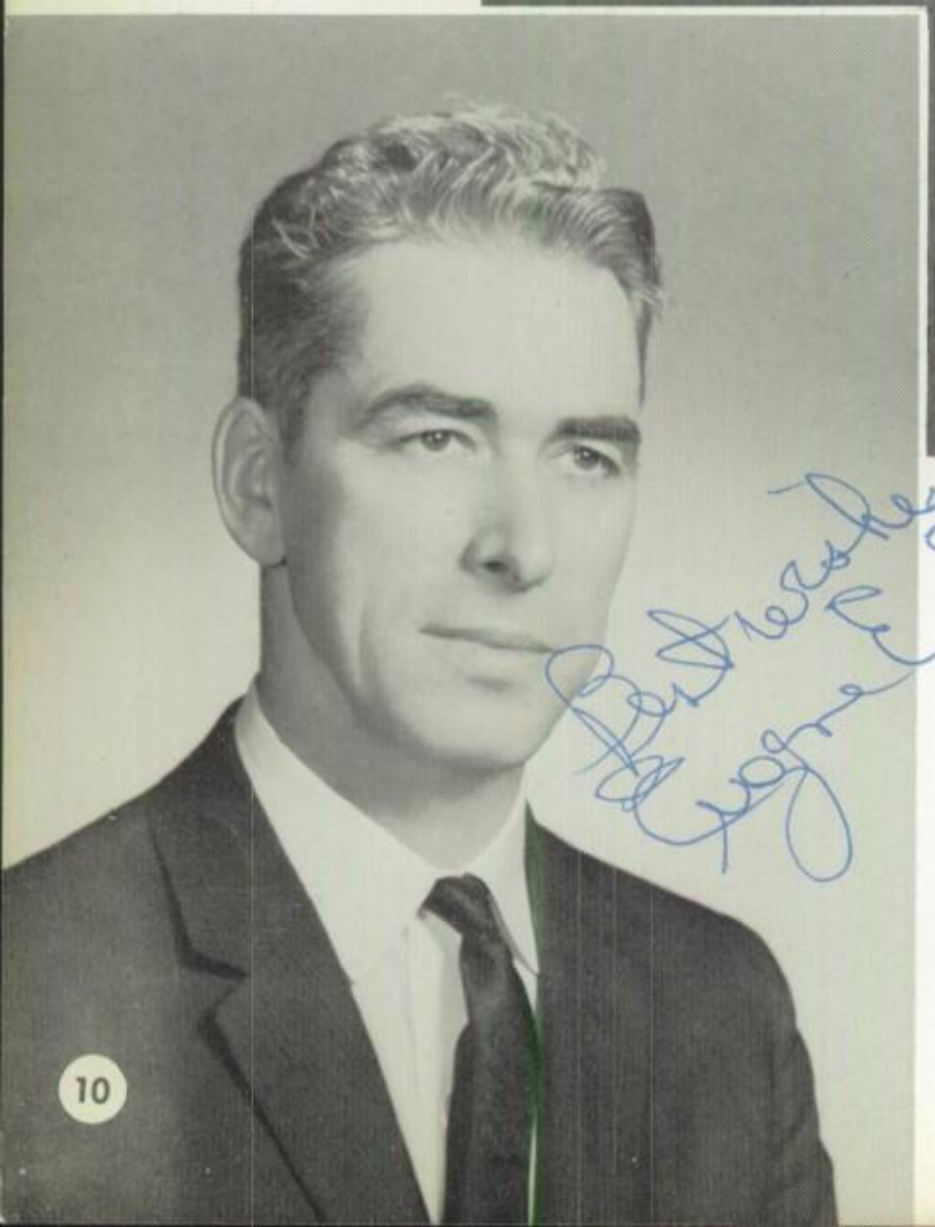
Dear Mrs. Davis,

We thank you for joining with us in our last year at B.C.S., for sharing in the anxieties and fun of the Senior Play, Class Night, and the many other events that have confronted us in our Senior year. We hope that you have enjoyed it as much as we have.

Sincerely,
The Class of 1962

We Welcome . . . . .





Mr. Hall and Mr. Erb, we as the first graduating class under your administration, wish to welcome you to Barker Central School.

In the short time that you have been with us, we have already learned to respect your sincerity and to appreciate the interest which you have shown in us and in the school. Your presence at so many of our activities has been especially gratifying.

The Class of 1962 wishes to extend its best wishes to you for a long and very successful administration.

Clerk of the Board ---------- Mrs. Lorraine Wayner
Treasurer ---------- Edward Kaltenborn

In the summer of 1961, the membership of the board was increased from five men to seven. The student body is not very familiar with these seven "men behind the scenes"; but in their discussion of school problems and projects, they always have in mind the welfare and betterment of the student body. Even now, while considering the building of added classroom space, this group of dedicated men is ready and eager to help in the development of Barker Central as an outstanding place of learning.

Senior Officers

The officers of the Class of '62 are an able group of Seniors who attempt to guide the class and keep it unified in its last year together at B.C.S. The Senior year is always the toughest with many problems which do not confront a class until they are Seniors. Although the way at times may seem unsurmountable, with a dedicated group of officers who have a genuine concern for their class's welfare, the problems seem to fade. But in order for their work not to be in vain, they must have their class's support. This makes their work seem lighter and more easily accomplished.

As the 50th Senior Class of B.C.S., we the class of 1962 sincerely hope that each class to follow will support their officers in each and every endeavor with wholeheartedness.

The Class of 1963 is headed by a fine group of officers. This year has been a busy one for the Juniors: in January, the Junior Prom; in the spring, the Flag Rush and Junior-Senior banquet. These have been memorable occasions for them during 1962.

On Class Night, the Class of 1963 made their first formal appearance as a class. On receiving the Mantle Oration, they took upon themselves the ideals and responsibilities of Seniors.

We, as your predecessors, wish you the best of luck in your last, and best, year.

THE HISTORY OF BARKER CENTRAL SCHOOL

Barker's History Is Eventful And Colorful

1962 is an eventful year in the life of the students and graduates of Barker Central School, for it is the Fiftieth Anniversary Year of the school's existence.

Prior to 1911, this area was full of little country schoolhouses. Then a great change occurred. In 1904, with Dr. W. G. Sprague as trustee, an unsuccessful attempt was made to consolidate the districts. Finally, in 1911, three districts combined to form the Union Free District No. 1; and the first high school in the Town of Somerset was established. The site for this new school was on the southwest corner of the Quaker and Haight Roads.

Before the building was completed, classes were held in the Sons of Veterans Hall, Church Street, Barker. Picnic tables were lined up the length of the room and were used as desks.

These were exciting times, and each student felt pride in the construction of the new grade-high school building. One day, the whole high school was excused from classes to have a picnic at the lake. Here, they picked up pebbles which were later used for the decoration on the original building. Even today, these may be seen ornamenting the outside of the second story.

During Christmas vacation, the school body moved into the new building of eight rooms. What a contrast to the picnic tables and drafty hall on Church Street! Who could have dreamed of anything so beautiful: the glossy floors, the shining cupboards, and gleaming desks?

There was a "hot" debate concerning the name of the school, but it was finally called: "Union Free School, District No. 1, Town of Somerset."

The first principal of the high school was Mr. F. B. Grover. The principals who have succeeded him are: C. A. Brownell, W. Leon Hutt, Glen W. Blasdell, E. P. Schermerhorn, Myron Stark, Clarence Robbins, Milford H. Pratt, acting principal Miss Pricilla B. Wolff, Charles E. Jeffrey, and Gerald F. Hall. The first Board of Education was comprised of W. G. Sprague, president, A. E. Frost, P. P. Landy, L. A. Foote, and L. M. Bateman.

In 1924, an addition was made to the school, doubling its capacity. Today, these rooms are fifth grade classrooms and the grade library, upstairs; while the first floor is the present grade playroom. The Board of Education at this time was headed by James Morgan.

Since Barker High School served 27 outlying rural districts besides the original school district, thought was given to a Central Rural School. This thought was put into action when representatives from most of the districts met at the high school on January 24, 1936. Representatives from neighboring high schools also attended. A long study was made of the project, and visits were made to neighboring central schools. Finally, on June 26, 1937, with 644 registered voters, the Barker Central School District was approved, with a margin of 136 votes. This went into effect on July 1, 1937, with 15 districts, serving a total of 27 districts and a student body of 600 pupils. Elected to the Board of Education of the 200th Central Rural School in New York State were: Raymond H. Gardner, President, Lon J. McAdam, Albert Harrington, John J. Connolly, Wesley Gotts, and Carl M. Coates, clerk of the district.

In 1939, the cornerstone for the present Junior-Senior High School was laid. This addition made it possible for the Grade School to use the entire, original building.

In this new addition, the science department now had its own rooms, consisting of two classrooms, a dark room, and a conservatory.

The first cafeteria comprised a large, shining kitchen and an even larger dining area. Prior to this, lunches were prepared in the Homemaking Room of the old building under the supervision of Miss Caroline Lum, the Homemaking teacher, and a paid assistant.

The new gymnasium was a needed improvement over the gym-auditorium although it seems rather small for the size of the school now. At the time, it was definitely adequate.

The auditorium was decidedly a welcome change from the former makeshift one. This one has a large stage and seating capacity of about 550. Of particular interest are the light fixtures. Their design and beauty have been commented on by many people who have been guests at the school.

The new library is truly a work of art. The students and faculty were very proud of it, and its classic lines and beauty are notable. The workroom was set up with a sink and cupboards to be used in the repairing and classifying of books.

The shop and office addition were built onto the northwest corner of the grade building. This was remodeled and is now the present cafeteria and kitchens.

Because of increased enrollment, in 1957, new elementary wings and the present shop were built. The old cafeteria was converted into classrooms, and the former shop was remodeled into the present cafeteria. Two years ago, partitions were put up in the new shop to make three new classrooms in addition to the three that already adjoined the shop.

When the first school was built in 1912, the enrollment was 248 for the entire school body. Now, fifty years later, there is a registration of approximately 1300.

In 1940, the National Youth Administration opened a resident center and trade school at Barker. Later the Resident Center was operated by the Barker Central School and provided living accomodations for boys who wished to take advantage of the vocational program of the Trade School. The ages of the boys ranged from 14 to 20.

Because of lack of need for such a school this program was abandoned in 1955.

Before the acquisition of the auditorium in 1939, the playroom, as we know it today, was used both as an auditorium and gymnasium. When a dramatic performance was to be presented, a stage had to be erected. A platform was set up on concrete bricks, and footlights were made of regular light bulbs and tin reflectors. In order to have curtains for the stage, the Footlights Club, the drama club of the 1930's, earned money to buy monk's cloth for the back and side curtains. These were hung from lead pipes. The front draw curtains, maroon in color, were especially made by the J. W. Wanamaker Co. of New York City. Band Concerts and operettas, basketball games and public speaking contests were also held in this room.

After having to use make-shift methods of stagecraft for so many years, the new auditorium with permanent stage was a delight to all concerned. It was a considerable shock, therefore to the community and school personnel when the stage and auditorium burned from an undiscovered cause in 1955.

Many students and graduates remember that cold day with regret. The sight of the ruined baby grand piano, the "oceans" of water, the completely destroyed velvet curtains of the stage and windows, the charred seats and the blackness of the entire scene will long remain with them. Faculty members had reason to note with pride how students reacted to the fire by quietly observing the oft-practiced firedrills and how so many of them aided in the clean-up process. There was no panic shown by anyone at anytime—a tribute to the morale of the school.

The Student Council has always been the backbone of B.C.S. life. Minutes from the meetings have been kept from 1931 on; and in 1961, these were bound into four volumes which are kept on file in the school. This group has helped with the Red Cross drives, sponsored the annual Christmas party in the gym, the Christmas baskets for the needy, Halloween parties, and school dances. The members have promoted sportsmanship and good will throughout the school. Young people associated with this organization have learned to grasp problems and solve them in a mature, responsible manner.

Interscholastic sports are very much in evidence at B.C.S. Over a period of years, a strong feeling of sportsmanship has developed, and still prevails, in our school. In the 1920's girl's basketball was popular and 1927-29 were championship years for the Barker girls. Since then, the boys have pretty much taken over in the competition in basketball and in various other sports. Their sportsmanship as well as their ability to score has been noteworthly. Students participating in, or supporting, these sports activities are able to create greater enthusiasm and school spirit for themselves and the rest of the student body.

Music, as a means of self-expression, contributes a great deal to life at Barker Central. Both band and chorus have been a source of pride to members of the community, as well as to the "music-makers" themselves. The school's first instrumental group was known as an orchestra, though actually it consisted of almost any instrument which could be used to produce music.

From this beginning, due to the efforts of such outstanding men as Charles Barone, his son, Anthony, and Herbert Ludwig, a band of such quality as to become known throughout many states, has been developed.

Vocal music is also a part of our educational system; in the past, the choral groups have taken part in many fine presentations.

Operettas, such as "The Mikado", spring concerts, ensembles, and soloists, who have won fame outside of the school environs, attest to the adequacy of the school's vocal music program.

The Latrator Staff is a group of representatives from the Senior Class who work together toward the finished product—The Latrator. One never realizes the really hard work which goes into making such a book until he is a member of this staff. Long hours are spent planning each detail of each page. Picture schedules have to be set up and followed. The book itself has to be supported by the entire Senior Class. This is done by means of selling advertisements to many different businesses and individuals. And then the yearbook has to be sold which is done by selling subscriptions.

Anyone who has ever been a part of a B.C.S. yearbook staff will surely remember the unforgettable day of the unveiling-Class Night. This is when all the time and effort really prove to be worthwhile. All the long hours of work and anxiety are over and all can sit back and enjoy their "masterpiece."

Student Council

The Student Council consists of representatives from the high school classes, starting with 6 from the Senior Class down to one from the seventh grade. This group is organized to work for the good of the school. Through this group, such activities are sponsored as the Red Cross Drive, the Christmas Basket Drive and Program, and the planning of various other activities in which the school takes part. Whenever called upon for help, this group readily supplies volunteers to help out in any way.

Each member counts a privilege and a responsibility to be in this council as each one is elected by his classmates to represent them. Problems and questions arising in the student body are brought before the council and a sincere attempt is made to find an answer. Under the able guidance of Miss Wolff and Mr. Frick, the members of this organization gain valuable experience in working with their fellow students.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is a means of recognizing students who are outstanding in scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Prior to receiving a charter from this organization for 1960-61, students were recognized by a local society known as the Beta Honorary Scholastic Society of Barker Central School. Since its origin in 1932, this organization has done much to carry out not only scholarship, but initiative, enthusiasm, and all-aroundness.

After receiving the charter for the National Honor Society, the three remaining members of the Beta Society were transferred to the new society in February of 1962. Besides these three, eight candidates for probationary membership were part of the first group to be conducted into the Nahobe chapter, the National Honor Society of Barker. The emblems worn by members of this society signify high merit and outstanding attainment. Also available to members upon high school graduation are various scholarships.

In the years to come, we trust that the National Honor Society will become a high goal for which students will work; to become members for an active group of this sort can be instrumental in procuring admission to college.

Barker Central

Barker Central School has long been noted for its fine band. Because of its consistently fine performances, this organization in the past has toured the New England states and visited such schools as Niskayuna, New York. Both the grade of music played and their artistry have been acclaimed by all who heard them.

In addition to their fine musicianship, their exemplary behavior has added to their reputation. Included in this year's activities were a performance for NYSMEA in Buffalo and an exchange assembly with the Batavia School for the Blind.

Varsity Football

Although in the won-lost column this year's team didn't show up too well, the team did make definite gains over the season.

First of all, the boys brought a better brand of football to the Barker fans than they have been witnessing during the last few years. Coach Fisher's hard work and determination began to show up more and more as the season went on. This year's team scored five touchdowns, an improvement of three over last year. Furthermore, two of these touchdowns were scored by Juniors, Doug Kickbush and Phil Seeloff, who will be back next year.

Barker played some fine games in the Improved Niagara Orleans League this year. One of these was a 6-6 tie with Starpoint. In this game, the Raiders pulled off a great goal-line stand in the opening minutes. They then came from behind and marched 60 yards for a touchdown with Wayne Willard's scoring off-tackle.

Barker also played great defensive games against Roy-Hart and Newfane. Against Albion, the Seniors played their last game and almost upset favored Albion. Among them were Craig Livermore, Richard Ware, Bruce Devereaux, Wayne Williard, Rico Fitt, Ron Malcolm, Tom Covey, and Ron Montague.

Junior Varsity Football

Under the fine coaching of Mr. Harrison, our Junior Varsity enjoyed another successful year. Every game played was a thriller all the way, and the spirit and drive the team showed in these games enabled them to be the aggressors most of the time.

This is an astounding fact when one takes into consideration the fact that not one J.V. boy had played football before this year. Many fine freshmen ball players will be back next year to mold another strong team. Even more important, the fine sophomore ball players will help bolster the varsity next year.

The J.V.'s had many fine games this year, the best of which was a 26 to 0 defeat of Starpoint. They were led to this victory by the hard running of Larry Earp and fine quarterbacking of Dick Harrod.

They also played a great game against Medina and were the only team to score against Medina's team all year.

Some J.V. linemen who did a good job this year were Tom Robinson, Jim Kolbe, Lenny Earp, Bill Gilbert, George Updegraph, Jack Denton, and Herb Good-enough. In the backfield Doug Bradley, Doug Livermore, Russ Howell, and Jim Hall helped out.

All these ball players should be a big help next year.

Varsity Basketball

Barker's Varsity Basketball Team gave the spectators exciting games this year. They played excellent ball, showed good team work, and displayed a very fine brand of basketball to the fans. They also showed good sportsmanship at all times, and they never gave up in any of their games. Thanks to the fine coaching of Mr. Chodack, the team was always hustling and alert. They came up with many interesting new forms of offense and defense during the season which enabled them to come through with some big wins. Some of these wins were real thrillers, the best of which was a double overtime defeat of Starpoint. This was just one of the many exciting moments during the season. The team came up with many suspense-filled plays and games throughout the whole season; and even when they lost, they were an exciting team to watch. Among the players on the team this year were such fine shooters as John Adams, Randy Howell, Larry Allen, Butch Ware, and Ron Malcolm. There were also some fine underclassmen on the team who will help in the future. They included Jim Hall, Bob Vickery, and Bill Webber.

Congratulations to the Varsity Basketball Team for another excellent season.

Junior Varsity Basketball

Barker's J.V. Basketball Team came through with a very successful season under the fine coaching of Mr. Donald Chirlin. The team came along well and improved greatly during the campaign.

Some fine prospects for next year's varsity were also developed. This is the main object of the J.V. team, and it looks as if some good players will be coming up in the next few years.

The J.V. team was also a very young team this year, with six freshmen on it. This is a good sign and shows a good future for Barker teams.

The J.V. played some fine games during the year and at times showed terrific scoring ability. They played hard in every game and never stopped hustling. Their hustle and desire to win was a tribute to their coach. They lost some tough games, but they also won some close ones.

Some of the top sophomores on the team were Jim Bruce, Lou Greenwald, and Clyde Austin. Some good freshmen guards were Russ Howell, Lynn Hare, Dick Harrod, and Chuck Jeffrey.

A great deal of credit must go to the J.V. team for a splendid season.

Varsity Baseball

The Varsity baseball team in the spring of 1961 was one of Barker's best. The starting team consisted for the most part of Seniors with lots of experience, while the depth was provided by some promising Juniors.

This was the team Coach Intermicola has been building the past few years. His excellent handling of the boys and skill in teaching them the fundamentals were borne out throughout the season. Under his guidance, the team posted a fine won 7, lost 4 record. This was good enough to earn them third place in the league and made them eligible for the sectionals. The team was in the race for the championship all the way, and despite some early season losses could have won it. There were many thrills and great plays during the year. The boys played excellent ball and showed plenty of fight.

The top pitcher on the team was Clyde Poole, who turned in some fine performances. Dave Harrod was a good hitter and also did some fine pitching. Other good hitters were Gene O'Shea, Dick Truesdell, and Dan Metzler. Metzler, Jack Vahey, and Ed Kolbe all did a good job in the infield. These boys and their coach provided Barker with an exciting and improved brand of baseball last season. With the returning Seniors and J.V. graduates coming up, hopes are high again for the succeeding season.

Junior Varsity Baseball

The J.V. baseball team had a very successful season this year. They won four games and lost some close ones at the start of the season. However, under fine coaching by Coach Fisher, the team came along fast toward the end of the year. They then went on to win some fine games and show a great deal of potential for the future.

The J.V.'s had many exciting moments this year, one of which was a three-run homer by outfielder Mickey Clemens in the Wheatfield game. Some fine players developed this year. Billy Webber's pitching helped them greatly, as did Jim Hall's hitting. Some good infielders were Louie Greenwald, Rog Benton, and Jack McAvoy. Jim Reed hit well and played the outfield as did Tom Miller.

These boys will be a great help to both the J.V. and Varsity teams next year. They worked hard to learn the fundamentals of baseball under their coach's expert handling. Many of the players this year were Sophomores with three more years of eligibility left. This is an encouraging picture, indeed, and should help improve an already good baseball picture at Barker.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Throughout the year, the Varsity cheerleaders work diligently under the guidance of Miss Donna Colquhoun, physical education instructor. After school on Wednesdays for an hour and a half one can hear school songs and cheers ringing loudly in the hall near the playroom.

The four Juniors and two Sophomores on the team were chosen last May from about twenty girls, after a week of practicing to "get in shape."

For the football season, the girls presented a snappy picture with their black slacks, identical white blouses, and white "Barker" sweaters for the chilly winds. With the advent of basketball season, the slacks were put aside for trim maroon jumpers.

In November the crew went to a cheerleading clinic at Clarence Central School. One of the highlights of the program was a unique demonstration by an expert on the fundamentals of cheering. At another clinic at Starpoint, our girls met with area school cheerleaders and shared their ideas and information on novelty cheers and songs.

It is with pride that we recognize the fine co-operation, sportsmanship, and ability of the girls in maroon and white.

With zest and enthusiasm, our Junior Varsity squad worked long and hard to prepare themselves for advancement to Varsity status. It was a fine job they did. They also practiced with the Varsity team under Miss Donna Colquhoun's leadership.

The group of Freshmen and two Sophomores accompanied the Varsity squad to the clinics also.

At the football games, spectators usually saw the girls, dressed in black slacks and white sweat shirts, eagerly selling cheering megaphones.

The J.V. rode on the spectator's bus to the basketball games so that they might contribute their support to the cheering section. Inside, one would find the neatly uniformed group in their white blouses and maroon jumpers impatiently waiting for the next jump shot.

The two squads have successfully built up school spirit. A few pep assemblies before the games aroused the "kids" to support their fine teams.

We can look forward to great things from these Junior Varsity cheerleaders in the seasons ahead.

Track

Our track team enjoyed a good season in 1961, piling up a fine total of points and developing some good, new track prospects. The Barker team had some of the best individual records in the league. However, because of the smallness of the squad, they had a hard time winning meets. They had many boys place first in certain events. However, as only one boy could enter in each event, the team failed to get needed second and third place votes. Despite being sometimes three times as small as other squads in the Niagara-Orleans League, they still represented themselves well in every meet. They "copped" many individual honors. Among these was Doug Hoffman's high-jumping. He was considered to be the best in the league because he won three firsts and led the team in points. Other outstanding boys were Joe Davis in the 100 yard dash, Larry Allen in the 440, and Bob Hass in the weight events.

Mr. Borresen's patient and skillful handling of these boys deserves much of the credit for their success. He has some fine young talent he is developing, the two best of whom are Bob Vickery in the mile, and Jim Bruce in the weight events. He is also going to develop a new Junior-High track team, which should be a great help in building strong teams in the future. These factors, plus growing enthusiasm for track, should lead to a good track future for Barker.

Sports Highlights

Each May bears excitement for the Junior and Senior Classes. No matter what the weather may be, the Seniors scheme and plan for the long-awaited Flag Rush. The poor, bewildered Juniors aren't quite sure what to expect, but they can be sure it will keep them on their toes. The day before the rush, everybody scurries around performing favors for the judges by doing such things as shampooing their cars, scavenging favorite food for the august personages, while some have even been known to transport the unsuspecting teachers to lunch. Picture four husky boys carrying a wooden chair, on which is perched a horrified judge who is clutching a shock of hair with one hand and covering his eyes with the other. This is one of the many proceedings that can be seen in the halls of Barker on the day before the rush.

Finally, Tuesday rolls around, and the Seniors are the Ruling Class and "have a ball" making the Juniors do almost anything imaginable. Each Junior has to wear or have on his possession all sorts or required articles. On the five-mile hike into the surrounding countryside, through muddy fields and over dirt roads, Juniors hunt frantically for clues, and, just as quickly discarding them, rush off to find their final goal — the flag. Points are added and deducted here and there for even the smallest error. On finding their last clue, they are presented with a map. If they can decipher this, they get a general idea of where the flag is. Since it can be very small and hidden almost anywhere in the area, often it is not found. The tired and bedraggled Juniors are then treated to a supper with the compliments of their superior classmen. But win or lose, each class is sure to have a lot of fun and excitment. The next morning is usually a fine day, even though the previous one may have been dreary and cold. The scores are tallied and announced, and the winning class has the honor of placing its banner above that of the losing class'. There is a real feeling of sportsmanship as the classes cheer for each other and all join in to hail their Alma Mater. The victors, usually the Juniors, are then privileged to penalize the Seniors for the day, and a good time is had by all.

After all the fun and gaiety of the Tuesday and Wednesday, on Friday the graduating class is honored at the Junior-Senior Banquet. As far back as 1912, a Leap Year Banquet was held in honor of the Seniors in the Assembly Room at the high school. A luncheon was served and the entertainment consisted of dancing, contests, and games. This first event developed into the great occasion to which the upper classmen look each year. During the years of World War II, it was held in the school cafeteria.

In recent years, the upper classmen and faculty have been presented with a delicious dinner and a variety of entertainment by the Junior Class. The prospective graduates are reminded of the nearness of the big day of graduation by the announcement of the top ten of the class. When they look back, they may find a few regrets because of wasted time; but as a whole, their years at Barker are really something to remember.

For many years, the Science Department has had outstanding students who have brought honor to Barker Central through their achievements. These are the ambitious young people who will launch our rockets and explore the moon. George Orsten was one such student. He made an instrument he called a Betatron which the judges at the Science Congress couldn't understand. His efforts earned him a scholarship to the University of Buffalo.

Helen Robinson Whearty hatched chickens in the lab, and preserved embryo specimens at various stages. At the Science Congress, the chicks were so noisy that they had to be taken out. She also won a scholarship to the University of Buffalo.

Geraldine Halo Baker determined the vitamin C content in various apples and won a scholarship to Canisius College. David Eaton, after spending long hours on his project, for treating over 10,000 bean plants with colchicine and keeping records of them all, won a scholarship. Joyce Huyett Shutt made the FINALS OF Science Congress and appeared on television with the plants in which she had produced cancer by use of Napthalene Acetic Acid.

Patricia Stacy Harrington went one step further and transplanted cancer from one plant to another. She was top winner for Western New York State in Biology. She won third place at the State Congress at Hartwick College.

Ellen Dickinson experimented four years with hooded rats. One year she placed first in the western zone and second in the state.

Through the years, the Senior Classes have taken trips to various places: Detroit, Alexandria Bay, Washington, D. C., among others. The first class to make the trek to Washington was the class of 1914. Seven girls composed this group. To earn money, they held a bazaar — sold everything from kittens and chickens to pillowcases. A dinner was served to 300 people at a cost of thirty-five cents each!

This journey was a far cry from the trips made today in luxurious buses. The class and their chaperones took a train from Barker to Lyndonville where they stayed overnight. The next morning, they boarded a train for Washington. The round trip for each girl cost the magnificent sum of eleven dollars! In the nation's capital, the girls saw the sights and and had the thrill of shaking hands with President Woodrow Wilson.

Since this first momentous trip, the Senior Classes have worked in a variety of ways to earn money for their trip. Some of these activities have included baked good sales, smorgasbords, dances, newspaper drives, sale of stationery, and the annual Senior Play. In 1950 and1959, the classes ran Clubs '50 and '59 at the area music festivals held at Barker in those years. All sorts of refreshments were sold, and music for dancing was provided from a juke box.

Each September, the campus and school used to take on the air of a country fair. Outside were huge tents crammed full of pets, livestock, and farm machinery. Inside, rooms were devoted to such things as Grandma's antiques, Mother's fluffy cakes, Junior's stamp collection, and Susie's canned peaches; every student and his family strove mightily to snare the coveted blue ribbons.

For special entertainment there would be fashion, baby, and amateur shows. Outdoor concessions would be run by the high school classes, and food and cotton candy would be seen everywhere. Wild shrieks of delight might be heard at the different booths: a wet sponge hitting home, or a ringer on a bottle.

A gala parade, featuring floats by school and community groups, was really something to see. They marched through the streets and ended up at the School. Although not everyone could win the prizes awarded, each participant really enjoyed his part in it. To add to the excitement, the Flying Farmers landed on our airstrip one year, and even a helicopter was on display. Each year, the fair grew larger with a variety of outside exhibits and contests.

After all the people had gone home and the tents were left deserted, a teacher perhaps wondered if he could calm his pupils enough to resume teaching on Monday, or perhaps a mother hurried home to find the indigestion pills.

The Alumni Association was organized in 1912 at a picnic held at the lakeshore north of Somerset Corners. Stanley Coleman was elected president. From 1912 to 1926, the annual meetings were held as picnics. At one of these, held at Olcott Beach, Mr. Pratt, then principal, recalls that though it was in June, it was extremely cold and the eight people present almost froze.

In 1926, the first annual banquet was held at Fairview Manor, Knowlesville, where the occasion was celebrated through 1929. In 1930 and 1931, the members banqueted at the Somerset Grange. In 1932, no banquet was held because there were no funds. In 1933, festivities were resumed at the Niagara-Orleans Country Club. From 1934-1936, the banquet took place at Fairview Manor (This restaurant burned in the spring of 1937.).

During the Christmas vacation period of 1937, the alumni met for dinner and a meeting in the upper hallway of what is now the old grade building. One of the features of this meeting was the viewing of the blueprints of the 1939 building.

During the war years when gas rationing was in force, attendance at the banquets lessened; and they were held in the school gymnasium as it was most centrally located. During the years since then, the banquet has been held in a variety of places.

Over the years, the association has grown by leaps and bounds. The interest of the graduates and the strong support of Mr. Milford Pratt during his principalship made it an influential and well-functioning organization.

At the banquets of the past five years, the average attendance has been 300. It has become the custom to honor the ten year classes at each banquet. In addition, the members of the current Senior Class are introduced.

"This is the last school we'll ever need."
"They aren't built any better."

Comments like these could be heard all over the community in 1912 when the new school went up. But since those days, there have been numerous changes which would have astonished the residents of the community at that time. The growth of the school has been evidenced not only in size, but also in the caliber of the students it has produced.

Now in 1962, as we again examine blue prints and arrange meetings with architects to expand the facilities, we look ahead with eager anticipation of what is to come, both in the realm of material progress and the far-reaching ideals for the years ahead.
